

THE WORLD OF THE OCEANS

Dieter Braun

In the depths of the ocean

In this non-fiction book for children, Dieter Braun, author of the bestselling works The World of Wild Animals and The World of the Mountains, takes a refreshing look at life below the sea as seen through a magnifying glass. His expressive illustrations take young readers on a tour from the depths of the oceans to the North Sea, with scary sharks, majestic whales and friendly dolphins, giant octopuses, sea turtles, crabs or sea horses and all the things just waiting to be discovered on beaches.

Readers can also find out more about the different professions in which people work on and in the seas, marine sports, and also discover famous lighthouses and learn about weather phenomena such as the dreaded sea fog. The colourful illustrations are accompanied by brief texts with facts and figures about the oceans of our planet.

USPs

The new masterpiece by Dieter Braun, author of the bestselling works The World of Wild Animals and The World of the Mountains

Unique and colourful graphic illustrations show the oceans of the world and their inhabitants

The World of the Mountains was awarded One of the Most Beautiful Books in Germany

'A book that also adults will enjoy.'
– FRANKFURTER ALLGEMEINE ZEITUNG

'A delightful book for young up-and-coming marine explorers.'
– FLENSBURGER TAGBLATT

SPECIFICATIONS

28.0 x 24.5 cm | hardcover | 96 pages | colour illustrations throughout | Retail price € 20.00 | Ages 8+ | ISBN 978-3-95728-481-5

Publication: March 2021

SOLD TO: France, Poland, China, Taiwan

The Author

Dieter Braun works in Hamburg as a freelance illustrator and author of books for children. He studied communication design at the Folkwangschule in Essen. His clients include Time Magazine, New York Times, Newsweek, Stern, Geo, Süddeutsche Zeitung, Zeit, WWF to name but a few. His non-fiction wildlife books The World of Wild Animals have been translated into 12 languages.

THE WORLD OF THE MOUNTAINS

Dieter Braun

Salute the Mountains!

This wonderful non-fiction book takes a closer look at the mountains of the world. With Dieter Braun's expressive illustrations (Wild Animals of the World), it takes the reader from the Alps to the Andes and the peaks of the Himalayas. It portrays both the animals of the mountain regions, from the marmot to the yak or the condor, and humans, for example skiers or climbers, in the mountains. The book is supplemented by interesting texts examining questions such as which is really the highest mountain on earth.

USPs

The new masterpiece from Dieter Braun, author of the best-selling Wild Animals of the World

Unique, colourful and striking photographs show the mountains of the world and their inhabitants

Awarded One of the Most Beautiful Books in Germany

'The Matterhorn and the Alpine ibex, the dromedaries of the Gobi Desert and the Masai of Kenya look so elegant here that you completely forget that this is a children's book.'

– FRANKFURTER ALLGEMEINE SONNTAGSZEITUNG

'The picture books of the author and illustrator Dieter Braun fascinate children as well as adults.'

– SÜDDEUTSCHE ZEITUNG

The Author

Dieter Braun works in Hamburg as a freelance illustrator and author of books for children. He studied communication design at the Folkwangschule in Essen. His clients include Time Magazine, New York Times, Newsweek, Stern, Geo, Süddeutsche Zeitung, Zeit, WWF to name but a few. His non-fiction wildlife books The World of Wild Animals have been translated into 12 languages.

SPECIFICATIONS

28.0 x 24.5 cm | hardcover | 96 pages | colour illustrations throughout | Retail price € 20.00 | Ages 8+ | ISBN 978-3-95728-130-2

Publication: March 2018

SOLD TO: China, English worldwide, France, Spanish in Argentina, North America, South America, Central America and Caribbean, Estonia, Taiwan, Sweden