Bruni, Frank
BEAUTY OF DUSK: On Vision Lost and Found
Hardcover * March 2022

BL
Nonfiction

One morning in late 2017, Frank Bruni woke up with strangely blurred vision. Overnight, a rare stroke had cut off blood to one of his optic nerves, rendering him functionally blind in that eye—forever. And soon he learned from doctors that the same disorder could ravage his left eye, too. He could lose his sight altogether. In The Beauty of Dusk, Bruni hauntingly recounts his adjustment to his daunting reality, a medical and spiritual odyssey that involved not only reappraising his priorities but also reaching out to, and gathering wisdom from, longtime friends and new acquaintances who had navigated their own traumas and afflictions. The result is a poignant, probing, and ultimately uplifting examination of the limits that all of us inevitably encounter, the lenses through which we choose to evaluate them, and the tools we have for perseverance. Confronting unexpected hardship, he felt more blessed than ever before. There was vision lost. There was also vision found. The Beauty of Dusk shows readers how he found meaning in that—and how to approach aging and mortality with joy. Bruni has been a prominent journalist for more than three decades, including more than twenty-five years at The New York Times. He is the author of three New York Times bestsellers. In 2021, he became a full professor at Duke University.

Done, Phillip
THE ART OF TEACHING CHILDREN: All I Learned from a Lifetime in the Classroom
Hardcover * July 2022

JFA
Nonfiction

After 33 years in the classroom, award-winning teacher Phil Done decided it was time to retire and write down all that he learned about teaching, learning, and children. A candid, no-nonsense primer for teachers, parents, and readers everywhere, The Art of Teaching Children offers the definitive advice, time-tested tips, and sharp understanding that come with over three decades of working with kids. From the first-day-of-school jitters to the last day's tears, he explores the teacher's craft, the classrooms we work in, and the challenges we face. He writes about the curriculums we teach, the colleagues we work with, and the reason we all do it—the children. He weighs in on principals, learning styles, the influences of teachers, and teachable moments. Done also addresses several of the biggest challenges teachers grapple with today: bullying, screen saturation, difficult and absent parents, unsupportive administrators, and the enormous challenges of meeting the diverse learning needs of students. With his trademark mix of humor, masterful storytelling, and boundless compassion, The Art of Teaching Children is the definitive guide to inspiring eager young learnings and the perfect companion for teachers and parents everywhere. Phillip Done is the recipient of the Charles Schwab Distinguished Teacher Award. He was a Teacher of the Year in California and a nominee for the Disney Teacher of the Year Award.

Graff, Garrett M.
WATERGATE: A New History
 Hardcover * November 2021

JFA
Nonfiction

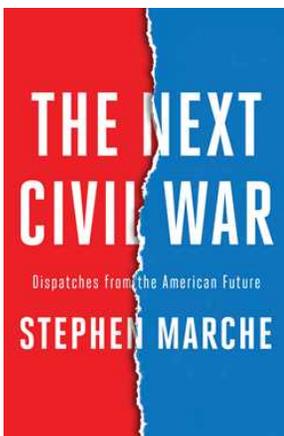

In the early hours of June 17, 1972, a security guard named Frank Wills entered six words into the log book of the Watergate office complex that would change the course of history: 1:47 AM Found tape on doors; call police. Within hours, five men—Virgilio Gonzalez, Bernard Baker, James McCord, Eugenio Martinez, and Frank Sturgis—were arrested and charged with attempted burglary, as well as attempted interception of telephone and other communications. But that was hardly the end of it. Over the next two years, that one thwarted break-in would lead to more arrests, an alleged kidnapping, FBI and congressional investigations, a Senate hearing, and bombshell testimonies from the highest levels of political power that ultimately would reveal a cover-up, end a presidency, and alter our views of moral authority and leadership. Watergate defined a decade, and a nation. And yet, the story has never been told from start to finish. Now, in Watergate, award-winning journalist and bestselling author Garrett

M. Graff explores the full scope of the most influential scandal of our time, from the release of The Pentagon Papers in 1971—the first signs of trouble for the White House—and the 1972 DNC break-in to the denials, trials, hearings, and eventual downfall of the Nixon Administration three years later, the implications of which we still feel today. Along the way, he introduces a vibrant cast of characters, including the President and his doomed inner circle, special prosecutors Archibald Cox and Leon Jaworski, the Congressional committees led by Sam Ervin and Peter Rodino, renegade reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, and Mark Felt, an Associate Director of the FBI who would conceal his identity for decades behind the name "Deep Throat." Grippingly told, deeply researched, and featuring new details gathered from the 2013 release of the final Nixon Tapes, Watergate is the defining, behind-the-scenes look at the era that changed the course of American politics—and life—as we knew it.

Garrett M. Graff, a distinguished magazine journalist and historian, has spent more than a dozen years covering politics, technology, and national security. Today, he serves as the director of the Aspen Institute's cybersecurity and technology program, and is a contributor to WIRED, Longreads, and CNN. He's written for publications from Esquire to Rolling Stone to the New York Times, and edited two of Washington's most prestigious magazines, Washingtonian and POLITICO Magazine. Graff is the author of multiple books, including The Threat Matrix: Inside Robert Mueller's FBI, the national bestseller Raven Rock: The Story of the U.S. Government's Secret Plan to Save Itself--While the Rest of Us Die, and the New York Times bestseller The Only Plane in the Sky.

Marche, Stephen
THE NEXT CIVIL WAR: Dispatches from the American Future
 Hardcover * January 2022

JFA
Nonfiction

Ezra Klein's Why We're Polarized meets Alan Weisman's The World Without Us in this deeply researched work of speculative nonfiction that takes a fiercely divided America and imagines five chilling scenarios that lead to its collapse, based on in-depth interviews with a range of experts—published on the first anniversary of the January 6 Capitol insurrection. These nightmarish scenarios are the five possibilities most likely to spark devastating chaos in the United States that are brought to life in The Next Civil War. Drawing upon sophisticated predictive models and nearly two hundred interviews with experts—military leaders, law enforcement officials, agricultural specialists, environmentalists, war historians, and political scientists—journalist Stephen Marche predicts the terrifying future collapse that so many of us do not want to see unfolding in front of our eyes. Marche has spoken with soldiers and counter-insurgency experts about what it would take to control the population of the United States, and the battle plans for the next civil war have already been drawn up. And not by novelists. By colonels. No matter your political leaning, most of us can see America is barreling toward catastrophe—of one kind or another. Relevant and revelatory, The Next Civil War plainly breaks down the looming threats to America and is a must-read for anyone concerned about the future of its people, its land, and its government. Marche is a novelist and culture writer who has written for The Atlantic, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The New Yorker, among others.

Morton, Brian
TASHA: A Son's Memoir
Hardcover * April 2022

LW
Nonfiction

Tasha Morton was a force of nature and Jewish mother extraordinaire—as vivid and outrageous a character as you might find in Philip Roth's fiction. She was a brilliant, innovative, empowering educator who left her mark on generations of students; but as a mother, she was intrusive, chaotic, and headstrong. Once he left home, Brian held her at a self-protective distance. When Tasha's health began to fail, Brian knew he had to step up, but he was not prepared for the minefield that awaited him—his mother's stubborn refusal to accept her own fragility; the anger she often unleashed on him; his own excruciating ambivalence towards her, complicated now by his newfound ability to see her for who she was; and of course the shocking lack of societal systems in place to help families navigate this challenging stage of life. Clear-eyed, unsparing, and shot through with a wicked deadpan humor, acclaimed novelist Brian Morton's memoir addresses ideas about masculinity, family, and responsibility, and asks how we can honor our parents without forsaking ourselves—and vice versa. Tasha is both a son's brave reckoning, and a stunning tribute to an unforgettable woman. Morton is the author of four novels, including Starting Out in the Evening, which was a finalist for the PEN/Faulkner Award and was made into an acclaimed feature film.

"Stunning and relentless. This is Jaws at 35,000 feet." —Don Winslow
"Falling is the best kind of thriller...Nonstop, totally authentic suspense." —James Patterson
"Amazing...Intense suspense, shocks and scares...Chilling." —Lee Child
"The perfect summer thriller. Relentlessly paced and unforgettable." —Janet Evanovich

You just boarded a flight to New York. There are one hundred and forty-three other passengers onboard. What you don't know is that thirty minutes before the flight your pilot's family was kidnapped. For his family to live, everyone on your plane must die. The only way the family will survive is if the pilot follows his orders and crashes the plane. Enjoy the flight.

T. J. Newman, a former bookseller turned flight attendant, worked for Virgin America and Alaska Airlines from 2011 to 2021. She wrote much of Falling on cross-country red-eye flights while her passengers were asleep. She lives in Phoenix, Arizona. This is her first novel.

Posnanski, Joe
BASEBALL 100
Hardcover * September 2021

JFA
Nonfiction

An instant classic of baseball literature and a must-read for any fan, The Baseball 100 is a one-of-a-kind work by award-winning sportswriter and lifelong student of the game Joe Posnanski that tells the story of the sport through the remarkable lives of its 100 greatest players. Baseball's legends come alive in these pages, which are not merely rankings but vibrant profiles of the game's all-time greats. Posnanski dives into the biographies of iconic Hall of Famers, unfairly forgotten All-Stars, talents of today, and more. He doesn't rely just on records and statistics—he lovingly retraces players' origins, illuminates their characters, and places their accomplishments in the context of baseball's past and present. No compendium of baseball's legendary geniuses could be complete without the players of the segregated Negro Leagues, men whose extraordinary careers were largely overlooked by sportswriters at the time and unjustly lost to history. Posnanski writes about the efforts of former Negro Leaguers to restore sidelined Black athletes to their due honor and draws upon the deep troves of the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum and extensive interviews. Engrossing, surprising, and heartfelt, The Baseball 100 is a magisterial tribute to the game of baseball and the stars who have played it. Joe Posnanski is the #1 New York Times bestselling author of six books, including Paterno and The Secret of Golf. He has written for The Athletic, Sports Illustrated, NBC Sports and The Kansas City Star.

Radke, Heather
BUTTS: How We Shape Our Bodies and How Our Bodies Shape Us
Hardcover * August 2022

JH
Nonfiction

An unexpected, fascinating journey into the scientific and cultural history of the female butt, from fossils and flappers to Buns of Steel and Baby Got Back. Growing up Heather Radke always felt that her butt was too big. That is, until one day a decade or so later, when she realized that bodies like hers were suddenly everywhere, in music videos and song lyrics, advertisements, and on the cover of celebrity tabloids. The thing she had been raised to be ashamed of was suddenly a kind of superpower: what had happened? To find out, Radke—now a museum curator and writer—set out on a journey to discover how a random collection of fat and flesh became the most racialized, sexualized, and mythologized part of the female body. Part reportage, part personal journey, and part cabinet of curiosities, Butts provides an entertaining and informative, but thoughtfully analytic understanding of how our most private feelings about our own bodies emerge from larger forces, and how and why certain kinds of bodies come in and out of fashion.

THE END OF CRAVING: Recovering the Lost Wisdom of Eating Well
Hardcover * November 2021

JH
Nonfiction

Innumerable diets have been tested and billions of dollars have been spent attempting to study and understand the simple act of consuming food. So, why aren't we getting healthier? Why does the dysfunctional relationship between eating and overeating, prevent us from living well? What if the key to unlocking a new path to nutrition and health lies not in overcoming our destructive urges, but understanding them? Now, science writer Mark Schatzker explores these key questions and the future of eating by focusing on the way our brain's powerful instinct to eat has been turned against itself. He takes us on a lively journey from the mountains of Italy to the Old South and inside brain scanning laboratories, to reveal new and fascinating information that will upend the way we see eating, craving, and body weight. Blending conventional wisdom, historical research, and cutting-edge science, The End of Craving reveals a new and radical truth: our natural urges are not primitive. Nor are they harmful. Only by restoring the relationship between the flavor of food and the nutrition it provides can we hope to change our eating habits and overall health, leading to longer and happier lives. Mark Schatzker is an award-winning writer based in Toronto, and an acclaimed journalist and author of The Dorito Effect.

JFA

An engaging, all-encompassing biography of Congresswoman Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez in the bestselling tradition of Notorious RBG and Pelosi that explores her explosive rise and impact on the future of American culture and politics. Sworn in at twenty-nine years old in 2018, AOC was the youngest member of the 118th Congress, and the youngest woman to serve in United States history. She is one of the most prominent politicians on social media, with millions of followers on Twitter, Instagram, and Facebook, making headlines consistently when she utilizes each platform to communicate her opinions, ideas, and progressive policies. Now, through essays and reported stories on AOC's meteoric rise and impact written by New York Magazine's top-tier writers and commentators, including Rebecca Traister, Lisa Miller, Tim Shenk, David Wallace-Wells, Molly Fischer, and more, we get an in-depth look at one of the most prominent political and cultural stars in recent memory. New York Magazine was one of the earliest proponents of New Journalism, launching the careers of Gloria Steinem, Tom Wolfe, Jimmy Breslin, Nora Ephron, and many others. More recently, New York has won thirty-six National Magazine Awards in the past two decades—more than any other magazine—and six General Excellence awards. The Washington Post has called it “the nation's best and most imitated city magazine”.
